

Hi

I'm John Assaraf.

My new book, "The Answer", has just been released and Yvonne Oswald's "Every Word has Power" supports what I have discovered. For more than 25 years I've been studying the science of achievement, including the natural laws of the universe; paying close attention to advances in brain research. We are right now entering a new era of understanding how powerful we really are. Yvonne's simple step by step methods in her pioneering book "Every Word has Power" focus on positive, powerful solutions to change your self-talk and rewire your brain for success. Implementing her new ideas, nourishing and uplifting your self-talk, will powerfully reinforce your self-confidence and inspire you to build a new life by tapping into your own innate intelligence. More importantly, the book is all to do with taking action to transforming your thinking and behaviors to achieve much more of what you want in life, which is what I'm all about. Enjoy!

Get ready to transform your thinking and your behaviors so that you achieve much more of what you want in life, because that's what I'm all about.

We are moving from motivation, to what I call motive-action. The emphasis is on action, because without that, even the best information in the world is a waste of time.

My focus here will be to help you take the right action. Part of that will involve showing you how to rewire your brain for success, tapping into nature's intelligence, and bringing out the genius within you. It is absolutely possible to change your reality, but you must take action. We are the explosion, the rest is just gunpowder.

I welcome you to visit my site and return often. I hope you'll check out my blog and share your comments, and look at the Vision Board and the other resources we have available.

If you have been stuck, this is the place to get unstuck - to break free from limited thinking and reinvent your reality.

To your success!
